PLANO, TEXAS (JULY 26, 2017) – Insight Wealth Partners is thrilled to announce that Ryan Ferguson has been honored with a ranking in the prestigious Forbes Magazine’s Top Next Generation Wealth Advisors for 2017 as one of the top 500 advisors from across the country.

This list focuses on the most successful advisors across the United States born in the millennial generation. To be considered for the listing, an advisor must be born in 1980 or later and must have a minimum four years of relevant experience. Additional criteria include that an advisor must have built their own practice and lead their teams, joined teams and are viewed as future leadership, or a combination of both. The ranking algorithm used to determine the top 500 measures the overall quality of the firm in correlation with its numerical value. The qualitative requirements are based on interviews and surveys, which include research on each advisor’s investing process, client retention, industry experience, compliance records, firm nominations, and other characteristics of a successful financial advisory. The quantitative standards were measured as assets under management and overall revenue generated for each advisor’s firm.

Insight Wealth Partners is delighted that Ryan’s achievements are recognized by such a significant award. Ryan shows excellence in his dedication to clients and their needs, understands and communicates complex financial issues effectively, provides insightful advice, and possesses a problem-solving initiative. Insight Wealth Partners is blessed to have him as a managing partner and team member.
